

D-DAY

NORMANDY 1944 2014

5 June 1944, Radio London
 "The long sobs of the violins of Autumn..."
 With these words of Paul Verlaine Allies announced the beginning of the airborne operations that precede the longest day 6 June 1944, early in the morning, Radio London transmits the final verse
 "...wound my heart with a monotonous languor"
 That's the message! The Allied landing on the coast of Normandy. 70 years from D-Day Italeri entrust the memory of this crucial event to a dedicated line
